

Stewardship: Old Story - Our Story

1. What are your first thoughts when you consider “stewardship of creation”? Why do you think some people resist taking this aspect of stewardship seriously?
2. Remember the contrasting answers culture and God have to the questions who are we. (Consumers/our own authorities vs. image-bearers/stewards). Are there ways in which these overlap? Which ones motivate your personal life and which ones motivate our congregational life?
3. Look at Deuteronomy 8, specifically verses 6-20. What does it tell us about how we should interact with the land God has given us authority over?
4. What is the difference between looking to God for the truth about who we are and what culture says about looking within ourselves?

Stewardship: Old Story - Our Story

1. What are your first thoughts when you consider “stewardship of creation”? Why do you think some people resist taking this aspect of stewardship seriously?
2. Remember the contrasting answers culture and God have to the questions who are we. (Consumers/our own authorities vs. Stewards/caretakers). Are there ways in which these overlap? Which ones motivate your personal life and which ones motivate our congregational life?
3. Look at Deuteronomy 8, specifically verses 6-20. What does it tell us about how we should interact with the land God has given us authority over?
4. What is the difference between looking to God for the truth about who we are and what culture says about looking within ourselves?